Contact Us Today!

In the 1970s, Lexco Cable founder Harold Karbin developed extrusion and swaging processes, establishing Lexco as a premier wire rope and bungee cord assembly manufacturer. Today, we maintain that reputation with sophisticated CNC and quality assurance departments, ensuring that completed assemblies are consistently of the highest quality and meet the customer's specifications.

Even though Lexco has grown in size since our founding over 30 years ago, our approachability and personal attention to clients has remained at an exemplary level. We work directly with our customers to ensure that we fully understand your concerns and needs. When you contact Lexco, you'll be met with a live customer service representative each and every time. Contact us today to find out how our team of experts can assist your next project.

RFQ Through PO Process

The Lexco Advantage

We perform both of the above processes exceptionally well.
And we excel at ENGINEERING SUPPORT too!
